

I had the opportunity to participate in a volunteer internship this summer at the Bexar County District Attorney's Office in San Antonio, Texas. I had the pleasure of shadowing a diverse group of attorneys, judges, liaisons, and paralegals. I witnessed the preparing and studying of cases, the uploading of evidence into the technological system, arguing in a courtroom, how both defense and prosecution attorneys conversed with their client, and the overall environment and proceedings of the courtroom during trials and hearings.

In addition, I observed "voir dire" which is also known as the process of jury selection before a trial. Furthermore, I was introduced to law school students who answered my inquiries about law school. This was an amazing opportunity to observe the internal operations of the career I desire along with equipping me to become an efficient global leader as stated in our Ambassador mission.
