

TEAM MORRISON

Professor Toni Morrison earned a bachelor's degree in English with a minor in classics from Howard University in 1953. She spent seven years teaching English at Howard after receiving her master's degree. Morrison was willing to examine issues of race, love, and even the paranormal. Morrison has received countless accolades for her activism and writing, including the Nobel Prize in Literature, a Pulitzer Prize, an American Book Award, and the Presidential Medal of Freedom presented by President Barack Obama.

TEAM CAPTAIN RYANE JONES

It is a great honor to serve as Captain for team Morrison and I am honored to have the opportunity to collaborate with my team. As a leader, I take great pride in hearing the ideas, experiences, and perspectives of others, and gleam at the opportunities to empower my team to be leaders and innovators. I intend to highlight and utilize the skills and talents within my team and seek to develop a great bond and relationship so that we can work together harmoniously. I am so excited to lead the Morrison team and plan to lead with the same vigor, foresight, and creativity that the legendary Toni Morrison herself exhibited while on Howard's campus and in her literature. I am truly inspired by the unapologetic confidence and creativity that Howard University students have and want to bring to light what greatness lives within COAS. I am so excited for what is to come for the Morrison Team and hope we successfully carry out her legacy on campus and around the world.
